Some water on the track would be an improvement. The dust is so deep it is almost impossible to see the horses.

W. H. Gleason, treasurer and principal stockholder in the Utah Jockey club, ar-rived in the city yesterday morning and is registered at the Cullen hotel. His advent stood as the chief incident of the day, for it is to him perhaps more than day, for it is to him perhaps more than to any other man that the rearing up of the turf magnificent in Utah is due. He early foresaw the sport's future in the state and the thoroughbred breeding possibilities of the Utah Jockey club and it is to him that Salt Lakers must feel indebted for the coming forty days of high class racing at the fair grounds. After a visit to the offices of the Utah Jockey club Mr. Gleason, Charles Henschall and Gus Holmes of the Knutsford went out to the fair grounds course, where a two hours' inspection of the plant was made. Both gentlemen expressed the utmost satisfaction at the progress of the work. Late in the afternoon Treasurer Gleason said: leason said: "Everywhere through the southwest and
